

EU MATTERS
NIEL's Monthly European Environmental News

Agriculture

Organic farmland benefits biodiversity over the long term

Agriculture changes improve lake water quality

Withdrawn Access to Justice and Soil Directives must be replaced

Air Quality

PM_{2.5} air pollution strongly linked to increased risk of heart attacks

Biodiversity

Warming boosts plant growth, but reduces species diversity

New EU initiative to protect biodiversity and fight wildlife crime

Sustainability drivers identified for smaller businesses in European protected areas

Climate Change

Water management and spatial planning's resilience to climate change: key proposals

European flooding costs could increase almost five-fold by 2050

Energy

New studies reveal severe flaws in EU biomass policies

Freshwater

New guide to help reduce pesticide pollution in aquatic ecosystems

Eels can be used to help monitor water's ecological quality

Marine

Fishing: sustainable methods are proving quite the catch

Seafloor trawling's ecological impacts revealed by simple sampling system

Bathing water disease risk may increase under climate change

Water quality excellent at most of Europe's bathing sites

Planning

Green and cool roofs could eliminate the urban heat island effect

Transport

Electric car schemes in Berlin and Paris: sustainable mobility approaches compared

Commission sets out strategy to curb CO₂ emissions from trucks, buses and coaches

Waste

Time to bring waste full circle

Other

Green taxes can boost the economy

Impact assessment of projects now simplified

European Commission provides €282.6 million for 225 new environment and climate projects